Standards Catalog Disclaimer

Electronic availability of SCTE standards is for use by the recipient only. SCTE retains the copyright on these documents, and does not authorize any other use including, but not limited to, distribution to others, reproduction, sale, incorporation into other documents or databases in part or whole, without SCTE's written permission. SCTE also does not authorize the sale or commercialization of these documents in any form except by agents authorized by SCTE in writing.

Draft standards that are referenced within an approved SCTE standard are available on request. Standards which are not approved, and which are not referenced in approved standards, are no longer available outside the SCTE Standards Program because their accuracy and currency cannot be guaranteed. Individuals who need any of these documents should contact SCTE standards.
